

unicum:mensch NGO

You are interested in our NGO?

We happily invite you to contact us.

unicum:mensch –wants to bridge the gap between university and humanitarian work, between academic work and social engagement.

- wants to contribute to the development of an educated humanity unicum:mensch – is of the opinion that the regard we pay the weakest members of society is of particular importance because the treatment of these members shows a society's ethical standards.

- wants to win over people from all levels of society who care to make the world a better place.
- is equally concerned with both pillars of this bridge between university and humanitarian work.
- knows about its duty of a priority treatment for the poor.

unicum:mensch supports real projects:

We – are engaged in the fight against poverty.

- support real social projects and scientific research.
- create room where justified hope can grow.

Our concerns, current projects and more information about unicum:mensch can be found on
